

If there isn't a law that provides and directes that collection agency's, Credit card company's and collection agency's (Attorney's) identify there phone number, and who they are, than such a law should be in place so that the individual not identitying there selves can be brought up on charges along with the company of whom they represent.